Generation 1

1. JACOB¹ ZINCK was born in 1738 in Germany. He died in 1786 in Rowan Co. NC. He married DERRODEA. She died in Rowan Co. NC.

Notes for Jacob Zinck:

The Zinck family migrated from the war torn Germany in the early 1700's. The areas of Baden, Wuerttemberg and Bavaria had many people with the name "Zincke, Zinckh, Zink". Three Zinck brothers are listed in the 1790 US census. Early German immigrants ported the US in Pennsylvania, through Lancaster Co., onto Frederick, Md. down the Shenandoah Valley to about Roanoke, Va. Out of Virginia on the Old Carolina Road through the Maggoty Gap and then toward Salem and into Davidson County. It is believed that the earliest settlements were in the area between Abbotts Creek and Leonard's Creek. Now know as Old Pilgram Church. Jacob sailed to America on the Richard & Mary and was qualified on Monday Sept. 30, 1754 in Phil. PA. Deed dated Jan. 27, 1763 by Henry McCulloch, Esq. to Jacob Zinch, Rowan Co., NC Deed Bk.#5, page 251. Rowan Court Minutes: March 22, 1764 Jacob Sink took Oath of Allegiance. There was also a Jacob Sinc that arrived on September 11, 1728 on the James Goodwill from Rotterdam to Philadelphia. Ship was commanded by a "David Crockatt."

Notes for Joseph Adam Sink:

Davidson Co., NC 1850 census indicates Joseph Sink was 23 years old. Served in Company "A" 13th. Regiment, in the Civil War.

Company muster roll shows he enlisted at Camp Holmes, NC on February 28, 1864. RECORD OF EVENTS from original military records indicate following:

"On the 4th. of May 1864 this Company left camp near Orange Co., Courthouse, Va. and marched about 10 miles from the town in direction of Vidursville and there camped for the night and after quite an early start on the following morning and marching quite rapidly we met the advance force of General Grant in quite an extensive wilderness and rushing on to them we drove them (resisting stubbornly) into quite a march and then halted and engaged them until near night. When we were relieved and retired some three or four hundred yards and retired for the night. Early on the sixth, (the following morning) we were rushed upon by an overwhelming force and we were pressed back until General Longstreet's forces came to our assistance, we were then marched to the left and joined General Ewell's forces and remained in this position until General Grant flanked off to the left and having followed him parallelly we then again met him again at Spottsylvania Courthouse, Virginia and having fought him for several successive days and punishing him severely he again flanked off to the left and having followed parallelly we again met him at Hanover and fought them on May 23rd on the central railway and whipped them". Notes are signed by 1st. Lt. James N. Williamson, Company A 13 NC.

Records show he was wounded May 5, 1864. The major battle of May 5 & 6, 1864 was "The Battle of the Wilderness". 13th. NC (Scales Brigade - Brig. Gen. Alfred M. Scales & Col. J.H. Hyman) fought in this battle. He rejoined his group in July 1864. Seige of Petersburg in June of 1864, Battle of the "Crater" in July of 1864. Joseph could have taken part in any of these battles. He died in General Hospital Camp Winder, Richmond, Va. on December 11, 1864. Is buried in Richmond, Va. The 13th. NC Regiment of 4th. Brigade fought under command of Col. Joseph H. Hyman & Lt. Col. H.A. Rogers at Gettysburg in July of 1863. 13th. NC was part of the Pender-Scales Brigade of Major Gen. A.P. Hill's famous light brigade. Few regiments in northern Virginia saw more fighting than did this regiment. At Chancellorsville (May 1-4, 1863) the regiment carried 342 men into battle and suffered 203 casualties, included 50 killed. The first day of battle at Gettysburg the 13th. fielded only 185 men. They were part of the force that charged Seminary Ridge, the regiment was shot to pieces. About 150 men fell, leaving only 30 men and 2 officers. On the 3rd. day at Gettysburg, the 13th. participated in the Pettigrew-Pickett charge. Only 22 men returned. Joseph Sink joined a very heroious unit.

George Brandon entered the Army Air Corp. in March 1943. 93rd. Heavy bomb group. Squad 330 flying B-24's for General Doolittle. Flew 11 missions and shot down on June 11, 1944. He was a navigator. His unit flew to England via Labrador, Iceland and then England. They flew missions all over Europe. He was shot down flying a B-24 # 42-95039. It was hit by flak and went into a flat spin and crashed in swamps northeast of Stettin, Poland. Up to four chutes were sighted. MACR 6152 and spent time in POW camp "Stalag Luft #3 in (Zagan) Sagan, Poland". 100 miles SE of Berlin. When Russians got to close they were moved to Moosburg, Bavaria (S. Germany). On 31 January the South Compound men plus 200 men from the West Compound went to Stalag 7A at Moosburg in rail "forty-and eight" boxcars packed 50 men and 1 guard in each boxcar. The trip took two days and two nights. The camp held over 11,000 Allied Officer airmen when it was evacuated in January 1945. American strength was 6,844 - the largest American officers' camp in Germany.

Stalag VII A was liberated on 29 April 1945 by Combat Command A of the [[U.S. 14th Armored Division]14th Armored Division]] after a pitched battle with a large defending force of 5,000-7,000 German troops. Foremost among the defending units was the 17th SS Panzer Grenadier Division supported by a few remaining self-propelled guns and 88 mm antitank guns. Combat Command A had a total strength of 1,750 officers and men, including only a single company of armored infantrymen. The American force learned of the existence of the camp, and its approximate location only a few hours before the attack. Because so many Allied POWs were in the area, the U.S. artillery, a major factor in any attack, was ordered not to fire, and remained silent during the attack. POWs inside the wire heard the Germans open fire on the American liberators as they crossed a bridge leading into Moosburg. The American response was instantaneous. Outnumbered, but not outgunned, the men of the combat command waded into the SS troops with a ferocity and volume of weapons fire that stunned even the most veteran SS officers. Resistance was eliminated, and the camp liberated. Among the 130,000 Allied POWs liberated were 30,000 American soldiers, sailors, airmen, and even a few Marines. It was the largest single liberation of American POWs in the history of the US military. Following the war, the U.S. Army officially designated the 14th Armored Division as the "LIBERATORS" for liberating so many American and Allied POWs from German camps... Returned back tk USA at Boston. His pilot was Edward J. Woodward - shot while evading German train guards. CP was Harry M. Purdy. KIA.

Although hundreds of attempts to escape from the camp have been undertaken, Stalag Luft 3 has become world famous because of the "Great Escape" in the night from March 24-25, 1944. It involved the construction of a 336 ft (102 m) long tunnel ("Harry")- the longest ever built in Germany during World War Two. Seventy-six officers escaped. All but three were re-captured and of these, upon the order of Hitler, fifty were turned over to the Gestapo and were executed by shooting.

Notes for Boyd Archie Biggers:

Boyd Biggers entered the Air Force in December 1950. Military air transport group 580th. for B-29's in Libya. His unit left New York Harbor. His commanding officer was Col. John "Killer" Kane. He left service in December 1954. The 580th and 582d Air Resupply and Communications Wings were established to support operations throughout the Middle East, as well as Western and Soviet-Controlled Europe, and the Soviet Union. Both were activated at Mountain Home AFB, Idaho

More on Killer Kane during WW2. Kane led the third element of an August 1, 1943 B-24 attack against the Rumanian oil fields and refineries at Ploesti. It was one of the most heavily defended sites in Nazi-controlled Europe.

By accident, Kane's element in the attack, the 98th Bombardment Group, also known as the Pyramiders, reached its target out of sequence and after another group had attacked, fully alerting its defenses. Kane assumed the duty of attack commander and, risking his own life, circled the target in his own plane to direct the bombers that attacked the target from treetop level -- and sometimes lower.

By the time Kane's bomber left the target, it had lost an engine, been struck more than 20 times by heavy anti-aircraft artillery fire and had uncountable bullet holes. Kane's decision to circle as the command aircraft also had used up any reserve of fuel the plane had for its return to base in North Africa. Kane's airplane, "Hail Columbia," crash-landed in Cyprus on the return leg.

Of 178 airplanes that left on the raid, 54 never returned.

In one of his last public statements, a foreword to air historian Michael Hill's book The Desert Rats, the colonel summed up his feelings about the historic mission.

"I still recall the smoke, fire and B-24s going down, like it was yesterday... Even now, I get a lump in my throat when I think about what we went through ... I didn't get the Medal of Honor. The 98th did."
